The Bren gun is a series of light machine guns \(LMG\) made by Britain in the 1930s and used in various roles until 1992. While best known for its role as the British and Commonwealth forces' primary infantry LMG in World War II, it was also used in the Korean War and saw service throughout the latter half of the 20th century, including the 1982 Falklands War.

Thomas B. Dugelby's celebrated The Bren Gun Saga originally appeared as a Collector Grade title in 1986. For its time, it contained the most information about the Bren LMG ever to appear under one cover. This First Edition is now long out of print and original copies, when they can be found, command many times their original list price. This fact, plus the increasing demand from collectors and researchers worldwide for a modern, definitive book on the Bren, has provided the impetus for this ...

Introduce in British service in 1938, the Bren remained in use into the 1990s. Based upon the Czechoslovakian series of ZB light machine guns, its name comes from an amalgamation of its origins: BR for Brno, the factory in Czechoslovakia, and EN for RSAF Enfield where it had been adapted for British service and was to be produced.
